VOLUME 52—NO. 2
OLDEST PAPER IN WESTERN KENTUCKY

HICKMAN, FULTON COUNTY, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, JUNE 29, 1911.

WHOLE NO. 2654
ESTABLISHED IN THE YEAR 1859

AT RANDOM

Mrs. C. T. Bondurant spent a few days of this week in Nashville.

Ed Brunley, attorney for the State Board of Pharmacy, was in Hickman on business Tuesday.

W. T. Barton, chief engineer at the Mangel returned home Monday from Hot Springs, where he has been for a month's rest.

In Graves county the Socialists have nominated Joe Bryan for Representative, and E. L. Nance, Sr., for State Senator for this district.

This time last year we were setting up late looking at Halley's comet. Although it is 500,000,000 miles away, it is said it can still be seen and photographed. Distance does lend enchantment to the view!

Carrie Nation who recently died at Leavenworth, Kas., left a will dated 1907 leaving the bulk of her estate of $20,000 to her daughter and to the Home for Drunkards' Wives and Widows. She willed the Free Methodist Church of Oklahoma $7,500 in land.

It develops now that one of the Royal Hod-carriers to the Majesty of the State Gang is working teeth and toenails to give W. A. Frost a black eye in the primary next Saturday. Why should he be so bitterly opposed to Frost? That question would permit of a dozen bad answers. Wouldn't it be better to let both men run on their merits and give them an equal show? Mr. Norman is a clever, capable man, but political juggling on the part of pseudo friends just at this stage of the game will not help his cause. The better citizenship will certainly apply the old adage "evil communications corrupt good manners."

J. C. Ellison has been appointed by the State Board of Pharmacy as Referee of Fulton county. Good selection.

It is not expected that the Standard Oil Co. men will have to give up automobiles or that the tobacco magnates will be compelled to smoke cheap cigars, on account of these decisions.

The N. C. & St. L. bridge gang arrived here Tuesday and began work on the bridge over Troy road, which will allow wagon traffic to go under the railroad. They will probably begin bringing their trains over the belt line about the 15th of August, as the major portion of the work has now been finished.

Full reports on the school census have been received by the Superintendent of Public Instruction and this shows that there are a total of 225,557 children of school age in this State. The statistics show that only 36 per cent of the school children of the State attend school and the percentage of those enrolled who attend is only 45 per cent., less than half of the children who are nominally in the schools.

The first of iron barges of the Mississippi Valley Transportation Co., passed New Madrid, on its way from New Orleans to St. Louis, last week, with a cargo of sugar, towed by the "Marriner." This Company has contracted for the construction of quite a number of these barges, and will put them in the trade this coming fall and winter; also a number of fine passenger boats.—New Madrid (Mo.) Record.

There may be real pleasure these hot days driving about the dusty streets behind a steaming hot horse with three or more girls packed in a buggy like a bunch of bananas. The girls appear to enjoy it and the horse can't help it, and the young man is happy, but for us, give us the one girl in a hammock or lawn swing in the shade of the old apple tree, with a palm leaf fan to stir the gentle breezes.

The Str. City of St. Joseph had a boiler explosion near Memphis, Saturday, and 17 people were killed and several others received fatal injuries. Most of the dead are negro roustabouts. The boilers were carrying 145 pounds of steam when they exploded, which is considerable over the amount allowed to be carried.

A Dirty Deal.

Because the southern boys could not stand the insulting talk of an impudent northern negro, who occupied a box seat at a ball game between his club and St. Paul, Joe Cantillon, of Hickman, had to pay $1200 to appease the sore head the negro carried into court. A Kentucky boy, Hub Dawson, after standing his insults long enough, went up into the grandstand after the negro. The police caught him, and Joe went to the rescue with a ball bat, which he brought down with full force on the negro's noodle. It is regretted that he did not hit harder, but it was a $3 bat and Joe did not want to break it. Some crank of a Yankee purchased the seat for the negro, who had established a reputation for insulting visiting teams, and put him up to the job, knowing that Southern boys were on the team and that they would not stand for him. The intervention of friends is all that saved Cantillon and Dawson from going on the rock pile. As it was they paid fines of $200 besides settling the damage suit instituted by the negro.

J. R. Brooks, a leading jeweler and optician at Greenfield, Tenn., was here this week looking for a location for a jewelry store, and liked Hickman so well that he has made arrangements to embark in the business here.

He has rented the W. F. Montgomery building, which was formerly occupied by Bondurant's insurance agency. The proprietor will put in a new glass front and make such other improvements as are necessary. Mr. Brooks expects to move his family here some time in August, and expects to be open for business not later than September 1st.

Family Washing

DRY CLEANING

On June 19th, 1911, we put on a night crew to do Family Washing, "Rough Dry 5c per pound, or Finished," which will also be 5c per pound with a little extra for all pieces of hand ironing.

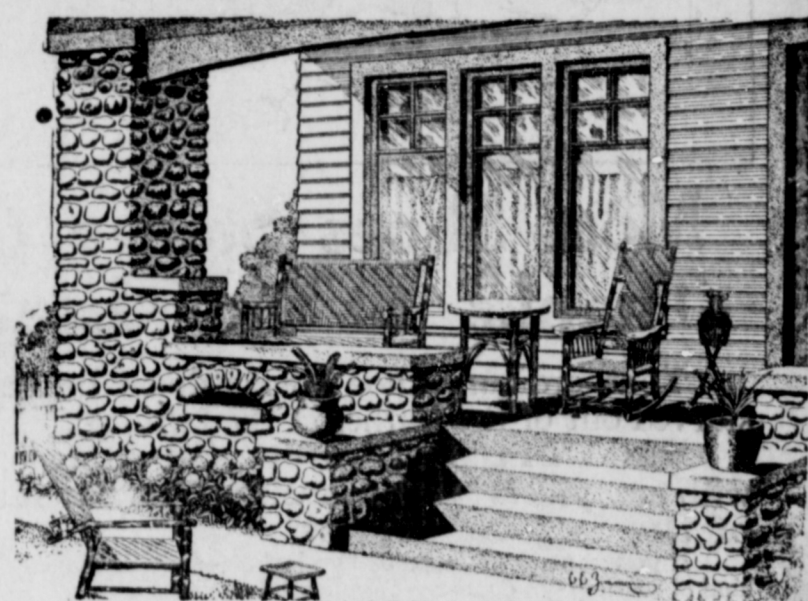

This is something Hickman people have been asking us to do for some time. We will do our utmost to please them in every respect, and the prices will be so that it will cost very little, if any more, than the colored washwoman, and the conditions will be much more sanitary. We call for your laundry in the afternoon, it is washed at night, "While you Sleep," and you get them next morning, in other words, while you wait.

In about three weeks we will have a regular DRY CLEANING PLANT, not a junk shop but a $2,000 plant. Save your work for us.

C. A. Holcombe Dead.

It is with deep regret that we chronicle the death of Charles A. Holcombe, which occurred at his home in Hickman Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, after a brief illness of paralysis of the bowels. His demise was largely due to the infirmities of age.

Mr. Holcombe was not only a pioneer citizen but was the oldest business man in Hickman, if not the entire county, having been engaged in the drug business here for more than a half century. In the pursuit of his profession, he amassed ample wealth and retired from active business about three years ago.

He first began business in Hickman 51 years ago, or in 1858, in a building opposite the present site of the LaCade Hotel. Being burned out at this stand, he moved farther down the street, and later to the commanding corner where the Hickman Drug Co. store is now located. This building was also destroyed by fire in 1882, and in the following year Mr. Holcombe erected the handsome two-story brick block which he occupied during the remainder of his business career.

Mr. Holcombe was absent during the years of the Civil War, he being one of the first to enlist among the generous quota of brave spirits furnished by Hickman to the Confederate cause; but his store was carried on by agents during his absence, and was not closed in business hours on a secular day during the 50 years he was in business.

Mr. Holcombe's company was the 1st Kentucky Infantry, and he served all through the long struggle between the North and South; and although he participated in nearly all the notable battles and sieges of the protracted struggle, he escaped with but a few slight wounds, which in those strenuous times he did not deem much more than scratches.

Upon being mustered out, after the surrender at Appomattox, he returned to Hickman and has since continuously resided here, and has been an earnest and untiring worker in upbuilding this beautiful city. He enjoyed the reputation of being one of the safest and most substantial business men of the city; was the largest owner of improved city property in Hickman; had served many years as city treasurer; vice president of the Hickman Building & Loan Association; vice president of the Hickman Bank and was connected with many other business institutions.

Mr. Holcombe was born at Lynchburg, Va., August 3, 1838. He was educated in a private school, there being no public schools at that time, and finished his education in the College of Lynchburg.

His first vocation was the drug business, in which he passed over half a century of active business life. He was probably the oldest practicing pharmacist in the state. He was a gentleman in every sense, and held in high esteem by his large circle of friends.

Mr. Holcombe is survived by his wife and four children—Miss Ruth Holcombe, T. A. Holcombe, of Greenville, Miss., C. W. Holcombe, Phoenix, Miss., and N. R. Holcombe, of Hickman, who have the sympathy of all in this sad hour.

Funeral services were conducted at the family residence Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock by Rev. G. W. Wilson, burial taking place at the city cemetery. The floral tribute was beautiful and the large procession which followed the remains to their last resting place was the best evidence of the high regard entertained for him. With the passing of this venerable gentleman, we lose a good citizen; a kindly, honest upright man whose life was rounded out in full measure and crowned with success and honor.

Peace to his ashes.

The guests were Mesdames J. M. Reid, C. C. Smith, Jas. E. Fuqua, M. DeBow, W. L. Helm, Fannie Shaw, J. T. Stephens, C. G. Schlenker, R. B. Breward, Gus Moore and Miss Price, of St. Louis. Two Boys Drowned.

In less time than it takes to tell it, two boys went down to a watery grave in the Mississippi river yesterday afternoon about 4:20, about 30 yards from the shore on the Missouri side, directly opposite town.

The boys drowned were Willie Houston, age 14, son of J. R. Houston, who resides at the foot of the court house steps. The other was Roy Tucker, age 11, son of Mrs. Tucker, residing in West Hickman, who had been here only about two months.

Four boys were in the party—all little fellows not over 12 years old, except the Houston lad. They crossed the river in a skiff to go in "swimming" on the Missouri side. It seems that they got farther down than they intended, as the water is shallow a few yards above the scene of the tragedy. The little Tucker boy was first undressed and jumped off the boat into the water, which was over his head. The Houston boy saw his smaller comrade struggling, and plunged off the boat in a heroic effort to assist him. Neither of the boys could swim, in fact, none of the four, and it was a matter of only a few seconds until both were drowned. The Houston boy drowned before reaching the other.

The first news of the sad affair was brought back by the Pearson and Harris boys, who rowed the boat back and carried the clothing of the drowned boys to their mothers, with the simple announcement "here's Willie's clothes and shoes; he's in the bottom of the river." The frantic mothers ran, screaming, to the river, begging piteously for help. It was, of course, too late. Searching parties were sent across, and spent most of the night dragging for the little bodies. Up to the hour of going to press, they have not been recovered. It is doubtful if they ever will be found. The water must be at least 30 feet deep where they sank, and under-currents have probably carried them away.

Willie Houston was employed in Jones No. 2, and was highly appreciated by his employer.

The parents of the little fellows certainly have the sympathy of the entire community. Only those who have little ones can fully appreciate the enormity of the shock of such a deplorable affair.

Election Officers.

We have made repeated efforts to secured the full list, which has been made out for several days, but Chairman Ayers doesn't see fit to let the appointments be made public. Just why this course, may be better understood after the election than before.

In conversation with a half dozen Fulton men, who should know who these officers are, all professed a blissful ignorance of the whole affair. Same old game. The only way to get even in this particular instance is to vote against Ruby Laffoon, for thereby hangs a tale. This is up to the voters.

UNCEASING MISERY.

Hickman Kidney Sufferers Get Little Rest or Comfort.

There is little sleep, little rest, little peace for the sufferer from kidney trouble. Life is one continual round of pain. You can't rest at night with a bad back, with twinges and "stabs" of pain, with annoying urinary disorders, backaches, lameness and nervousness. You can't be comfortable at work with darting pains and blinding dizzy spells. Neglect these ailments and serious troubles follow. Begin using Doan's Kidney Pills at the first sign of disorder. You will work better as the kidneys get better, rest better as your back grows stronger.

Proof in Hickman testimony:

C. A. Watson, of Hickman, Ky., says: "For some time I was a victim of kidney complaint. There were pains in the small of my back, which were always more severe when I stooped, or lifted. My back ached at night and when I arose in the morning, I was very lame. I became tired and occasionally suffered from nervous spells. Headaches bothered me and I was subject to dizzy spells during which there was a blurring of my sight. When I caught cold, it settled on my kidneys and at such times, the passages of the kidney secretions became too frequent. This weakness was particularly annoying during the night and I was often forced to arise several times. Learning of Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box at Helm & Ellison's Drug Store and two days after using them I received relief. After I had taken the contents of the box, I was cured. I never lose an opportunity to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to other kidney sufferers and shall always keep them in the house."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

A. A. Faris, the popular coal man, fell to the floor, in Jones No. 2, this morning, with an attack of the heart or some trouble, and is in a precarious condition. We were unable to gain admittance to the restaurant and get the particulars. He was later carried to his home and given medical attention and is reported as resting fairly well.

Rural Teachers.

The following teachers have been elected to teach in the rural schools for the next term:

Edmiston, Miss Lily Maxedon.
Cayce, Mrs. Mary Barber.
Palestine, J. C. Sugg.
Sycamore, Miss Ina Royer.
Blue Pond, Miss Maggie Henry.
Sassafras Ridge, Mrs. Lavana Fuller.

Island No. 8, Miss Cressie Chambers.

Liberty, Mrs. P. A. Moore.
The next election will occur on July 29th.

Mrs. W. B. McGehee.

Mrs. Mary Ella McGehee, wife of William B. McGehee, died at her home, one mile west of Cayce, Monday, June 26th, at 6 o'clock p. m., after a short illness. Death, the result of asthma, with complications, was of course unexpected and came at a great shock to her relatives and many friends.

Mrs. McGehee, formerly Miss Batty, was born in Paducah, Ky., May 7, 1859. In early life she joined the Presbyterian Church, and was one of its most faithful members. Her chosen occupation was that of school teaching, and she taught a number of terms in Fulton county. In that capacity, few gained the love and respect that she won from both patrons and friends. Throughout the county are scattered those who were pupils of hers, and who do honor to her faithful training and always speak words of praise in her behalf. She possessed a bright, intelligent, well developed mind, and was a lady of pleasing personality and refinement. For many years this good lady acted as a special correspondent for the Hickman Courier, and her kind, efficient service was highly appreciated by us and our many readers of that vicinity. It is indeed with deep regret we must say these parting words. She was a most excellent lady and will be missed by us all.

Deceased is survived by her husband, W. B. McGehee and three children—Mrs. Mildred White, Errol and James McGehee.

Funeral services were held by Rev. W. G. Stockton at the family residence Tuesday afternoon, where a large number of friends assembled to pay their last respects. Burial took place at the family burying ground.

Her beautiful Christian life leaves behind a noble example, as well as consolation, to those who mourn her loss, and the Courier extends sympathy to those who weep.

Courier's Home Circle

Home should be made the most interesting and best loved spot on earth not merely four square walls of wood and brick; it should be the fountain of civilization the very word should touch every fiber of the soul and strike every cord of the human heart with its angelic fingers, a place where that is centralized on the higher and better things of life, bringing forth in the highways and byways an influence that will be felt by all with whom it comes in contact. It should be a place where the heart is, a place where our feet may leave but not our hearts, a place where angels unfold their wings, the place we love best, because it is the place where mother is.

The best brought up family of children we ever knew were educated on the principal of always commending them when it was possible to do so and letting silence be the reproof of any wrong doing which was not really serious. We have heard the children of this household, when their mother had failed to say any word of commendation after some social occasion, ask as anxiously as possible, "What was it, mamma? I know something was wrong. Didn't we treat the other children well, or were we too noisy?" In that house reproof was never bestowed unsought—only commendation of whatever it was possible to commend, was gratuitous. We think this system would be as good for those grown-up children, the husbands and wives, as for those still in the nursery.

The days come to us like friends in disguise, bringing priceless gifts from an unseen hand; but if we do not use them, they are borne silently away, never to return. Each successive morning new gifts are brought but if we failed to accept those that were brought yesterday and the day before we become less and less able to turn them to account, until the ability to appreciate and utilize them is exhausted. Wisely was it said that lost wealth may be regained by industry, economy; lost knowledge by study, lost health by temperance and medicine, but lost time is gone forever.

Some of us at any rate on both sides of the Atlantic, have begun to realize that serious study is less likely to injure women than pinched waists, late hours, hot rooms and unwholesome food, and we think it is better for our girls to be graduated at schools for science rather than at schools of scandal. We think it will better prepare them for the grave responsibilities of matrimony and motherhood than rapid life in which personal adornment is their chief aim, and how to kill time and secure a rich husband, their principal anxiety.

The Fourth of July is rapidly becoming a day to be dreaded rather than enjoyed. The Fourth of July means the death of hundreds of children by explosives of different kinds. The daily papers on the fifth of July never fail to contain column after column of death notices from toy pistols fire crackers and various kinds of explosives. In New England the growing disgust that a day which should be hallowed by patriotic memories should be degraded into a day marked by the killing and maiming of hundreds if not thousands of children and into a day of torture for the sick and nervous and of dread and anxiety for the strong and well. The hospitals of the large cities on the Fourth of July are filled with youngsters of all ages, cut and burned, with their hands torn to shreds and their sight destroyed or injured, and the death due to lock-jaw alone would, if we were not caloused by custom, cause such an outcry that those who sell or parents who put into the hands of their children the deadly toys would be held up to general execration. That there is no exaggeration in this statement of the morning following the Fourth in case is borne out by the newspapers of every city in the country. Among the sick and unwell or those who are in the least nervous the constant din and the sudden ear-splitting explosions cause a degree of misery that in itself would justify the suppressions of all explosives even if they were entirely innocuous to those that handle them and to surrounding property. No one has the right to subject others to torture merely to amuse himself. To bring children up deliberately to disregard the comforts and well being of others is to teach license, not liberty, on the day that should be consecrated to liberty.

In the home all that is characteristically feminine in woman unfolds and flourishes. Home without woman is a misnomer, for woman makes home, and home is what she makes it. If she is illiterate, her home partakes of her of this quality; if she is immoral her home cannot be the abode of virtue; if she is coarse refinement does not dwell where she resides. If she is cultivated, pure, refined, those qualities will characterize the home which she creates. The higher the degree of her culture, her purity, her refinement, the more will those qualities characterize the home of which she is the center.

When tempted to criticize the food on the home table, remember the adage that silence is golden. Criticism is never so exasperating to the house keeper as at the table, where, in spite of hard work and worry, things will occasionally appear that are not as she had planned.

The self that a woman takes with her in her marriage is her real dowry. If her dowry can be reckoned in numerals only, no matter how many they may be, wretched indeed will be her husband, impoverished her children, but if she possess industry, gentleness, self-abnegation, purity, intelligence, combined with capability, she is in her self a treasure of treasures.

TAFT PACT IS DUE NEXT

Consideration of Free List and Wool Measure Will Be Given Next and Will Involve Long Debates.

Washington, June 27.—Under an agreement reached last week, the vote on the Root amendment to the Canadian reciprocity bill is scheduled to be taken before the adjournment of the senate.

This amendment developed the most strength of any proposed. Nevertheless, it is expected it will be rejected by a decisive majority, sufficient to indicate the purpose of the senate not to permit any change whatever in the bill as it came from the house.

With the Root amendment out of the way, consideration of reciprocity is expected to be continued, coupled with the decision of the free list bill, the wool revision measure and the proposition to revise the tariff generally.

The fact that neither the free list nor the wool revision bills in their entirety as they came from the house meet the views of all the Democrats of the senate, was counted upon to inspire surprise and explanations and pleas for amendments. Neither is endorsed by the Republican insurgents, who urge downward revision. Both measures, however, it was predicted, would form the basis for the fight that is to bring reciprocity and the whole tariff question into the open for a more or less protracted debate.

WILL ALWAYS BE MYSTERY

Former St. Louisan Says It Is Impossible to Tell Cause of Maine Explosion.

Tampa, Fla., June 27.—"The secret of the destruction of the battleship Maine will never be known," said Gen. W. H. Bixby, formerly of St. Louis, chief of engineers in charge of the work of raising the Maine, upon his arrival from Havana.

The destruction of the vessel was such, says Gen. Bixby, and the deterioration has been so great that it will be impossible to tell whether the ship was blown up by a force from within or without. The greatest force, however, was from the inside, indicating that the forward magazine had exploded. Whether this was from a sympathetic explosion of a torpedo from the outside may forever remain a mystery.

Gen. Bixby says that unless the fragment of a torpedo is found, there is no way of connecting some outside agency with the blowing up of the vessel. "We do not expect to recover human remains," said Gen. Bixby. The crew's compartments have disappeared entirely.

It is reported that the whiskey interests will make a hard fight to elect their "ticket" in the Democratic primary next Saturday. It is also rumored that a slush fund of $5,000 will be used, if necessary, to carry Fulton county. These reports may be so—they may not. It is well known, however, that politics in this county, in some instances, is rotten to the core. Too much "cutting and drying," before the election rolls around; too many swaps and trades among the brokers, who look upon elections as their private business rather than the people's rights. If the whiskey bunch attempts to influence the election by dispensing free beer and whiskey, it should be nipped in the bud, and the rollers put under the men or man who acts as a go-between. We say this without regard to the candidates who may or may not be in the combine. The fellow who buys the influence of corrupt organizations binds himself to pay them back with the people's rights and Judas Iscariot was a gentleman and scholar by the side of such individuals. There has been some "still hunt" work going on in the county during the past two weeks in the interest of the ring rule element. The whole thing will come to a show-down next Saturday, and the better element of the county should see that a square deal is given every man.

Certain fellows must do certain thing in order to perpetuate themselves politically, and they will not stand back on delivering the goods if trickery will win. To provoke the wrath of the gang means certain extermination to henchmen who feed at the pie-counter. For that reason, local corruption creeps in and should be watched.

Her Wedding Supper.

The little brown cottage, cuddled shyly away among the lilac bushes, humble and modest as its own mistress. Since the death of her widowed mother, Margaret had lived here alone. The tiny rooms had watched the years trace lines of departing youth on her gentle face, though their own trim neatness showed little evidence of the lapse of time. The oaken chairs, the carefully dusted table, the brightly polished stove, stood just where they had stood the dreary morning after the funeral. The black walnut clock ticked the same cheerful warning of seconds passing away, its equilibrium assured by the same bit of pasteboard tucked under one edge. The rugs showed no wear from the soft tread of Margaret's dainty, unambitious feet. Placid, habit-bound, solitary, the house and its owner had grown with the flying years.

Into this measured seclusion the small village intruded little interruption. With the chatter of village talk and the clack of idle gossip, Margaret had nothing in common. A slight deafness, quite imperceptible to less sensitive spirits than her own, removed her a bit further from companionship. Her family, her mother's people, finding her "queer," slowly detached themselves from her. Gradually her life was absorbed into her books, her garden, her sewing and her household cares, until the world outside her own time-worn brown fence pallings and the hedge of yellow roses, came to have the unreality of a dream.

True, dreams of the future had come to her earlier moods; the feminine yearning for some one to share her life, for tiny fingers to disturb the monotony of orderliness that pervaded the house. But time and habit had swallowed these creations of her fancy.

The events of human experience, death, love, pain, sorrow, fear, left her untouched, appearing to her lonely aloofness as unreal as the human beings they blessed and cursed.

Even Jacob Wilkins, in the big white house beyond the rose hedge, had long since lost the quality of actual earthly existence. He shoveled the snow regularly from her walk in winter; he sawed her wood and stacked it neatly in the tiny "lean-to;" he trimmed her hedges and mowed the grass plot; but he never ventured into her garden or her sitting room. So even he, in time, grew to be as lacking in the human qualities as the elements he protected her from thus generously and carefully.

To a sense, however, of his very genuine protection, Margaret's awakening came rudely enough. A dirty tramp shuffled in one summer afternoon from the outer haze of things, within the range of Margaret's near-sighted vision. Catching a realization of her lonely defencelessness, he demanded food and money, stepping threateningly along the stone walk toward the startled woman.

Fear gripped her relentless, overwhelming fear, all the more dreadful for the long years of impunity it had granted to her inexperience. She could not scream, nor run, nor defend herself; she froze into a motionless image of fright.

"You clear out of here quick, you ornery cuss!"

Margaret's eyes lifted to the smiling gaze of Jacob Wilkins. Even in her disarray of ideas, memories of sleigh rides, of parties, of picnics, of moonlight walks with the youthful counterpart of this man struggled for her attention, but the tremors of fright stifled them again. With his usual unassertiveness, he ventured to take her trembling fingers, gently, slowly, into his big hands.

"It ain't right, Margaret, for you to live here alone like this. It ain't safe for you," he explained softly, as if he comprehended the shock to her awakened helplessness.

She could only shiver with the passing of terror. She felt his anxious eyes reading her face for some sign.

Don't Be Annoyed.

"Would you—do you think—don't you believe—could you come over to the big house and live with me and let me look after you? It would be safer," he added breathlessly.

The abrupt invasion of the things of this world had left her powerless to think or to act. Her universe was crumbling to pieces beneath her feet. All that he meant she did not comprehend. She knew only that his fingers were kind and strong, his voice tender and assuring. With the chill of alarm still shaking her voice, she whispered.

"Oh yes, yes, yes."

"I'll bring Doctor Brandon right up here and we will be married this very afternoon."

"Doctor Brandon? Married?"

"Why, sure; you can't come to live with me unless we are married," holding her fluttering hands in his persuasively tender palms.

Before her unaccustomed thought could traverse the length of the new proposition, he went on:

"I'll be right up with him. I'm glad you're wearing the white dress with the pink daisies in it, Margaret. You had one like it years ago and it always looked to me like a wedding dress."

With weakening knees and bewildered spirit, she sat down on the grass-edge beside the walk, to think things out with a brain that would not wrestle with this muddle of mundane affairs. Too brave to cry, she could only pick the green blades, one by one, and lay them in a row on her pink-sprigged gown. Upon her troubled, inadequate pondering, broke the voice of Doctor Brandon.

"I'm so glad to learn, Margaret, what Jacob has just told me. Mrs. Brandon and James have come along as witnesses."

With a puzzled smile of greeting, Margaret rose with Jacob's unobtrusive assistance. In a haze she followed his gentle leading to the little front parlor, where, in the presence of the silent companions of her twenty years of isolation, she stood beside Jacob and said to Doctor Brandon the words Jacob bade her say. Her heart warmed to the good will and gladness in the words of congratulation.

Margaret had just begun to feel the weight of Jacob's unaccustomed presence, when he said:

"Let's go over to see the big house."

He led her from the little brown cloister to the house that stood close by the highways of men.

Aching from the aloneness of the years, chilled with the strangeness of the big rooms, she looked over the new home and its master, her husband. She owned a feeling of gladness only when Jacob said:

"No tramp can frighten you here, Margaret mine."

Then as if he understood some tiny part of her struggle to adjust herself to the well-nigh unbearable lack of familiar things:

"Run along, honey, to your garden, while Mirandy gets us our wedding supper."

With flying feet she sped from the proposed feast. With clutching fingers she pulled down to her burning face the tall syringas and the ambitious climbers. By degrees the perplexing universe outside the brown fence slipped back into its proper desuetude and the joy in her flower friends soothed jangled nerves and troubled memories into forgetfulness. Snipping a twig here, kissing a blossom there, stopping to talk to the purple and gold faces in the pansy bed, she slowly made her way, just as she had so many summer evenings in the twenty years of solitude, to the little kitchen door.

With the habitual repetition of her narrow round of conduct, she washed her hands in the tin basin and threw the water gently on the morning glory vines at the window. Turning to the pile of kindling wood beside the stove, she started a fire and set the tea kettle to boil. Into the tiny brown teapot she dropped the usual pinch of tea leaves and set it on the hearth.

On the table she placed the tiny cloth; beside the blue plate she placed the napkin in the old silver ring and the blue cup and saucer; from the cookie jar in the pantry she took two seed cookies, as usual, and put them on a small blue plate in close conjunction with the white dish of strawberry jam. In reply to the tea kettle's whistle of readiness she was pouring the boiling water from its hissing spout when Jacob's hearty voice broke the spell of two decades of seclusion.

"Don't you think a man ought to be invited to his own wife's wedding supper?" with a hint at a chuckle covering an anxiety which touched even Margaret's self-centered abstraction.

A barrier seemed to break, a high wall between her and the joy of life seemed to crumble and set her free into a glad world whose beauties she had quite forgotten. With a sob that was not of sorrow, she pushed Jacob outside the door in which she turned the key. Placing the key and her hand in his eager palm she let him lead her through the rose hedge.

SMUGGLE $300,000 GFMS

TWO RICH MEN AND A WOMAN ACCUSED.

Government in Possession of Facts Which Prompts Denial of Any Quiet Settlement.

New York, June 27.—The government is not disposed to deal leniently with a multi-millionaire leather manufacturer of Kenosha, Wis., who is charged with aiding the fascinating Helen D. Jenkins in smuggling into this country $300,000 worth of jewels. This was made manifest when it became known that an effort will be made to indict not only him, but also a wealthy and prominent coal merchant of Nashville, Tenn., who is alleged to have been a party of the act. Although Collector Loeb would make no comment, it was asserted on unquestioned authority that he has placed in the hands of United States District Attorney Wise evidence which will be submitted to the federal grand jury and will urge that both men be indicted.

Custom house officials believe this evidence is so overwhelming that the district attorney will have little difficulty in convincing the grand jury that a crime has been committed and that arrest of the alleged smugglers will quickly follow.

Much information tending to unravel the mystery of Mrs. Jenkins' connection with the alleged plot has come to light, and, if the case goes to trial, interesting facts concerning the acquisition of the fortune in gems and the way they were brought in duty free will be developed. Some facts connected with alleged strenuous measures by the suspected men to make a quiet settlement in the hope that publicity might be avoided were also learned.

Fortune Tied Up.

Amos Fish, a citizen of Woodland Mills, has received word that an estate of about $20,000 has been left to him and his two brothers. The father of the three boys died when they were small, and they were given homes by three different families. By the time the boys were grown, they had lost all trace of each other. Amos is now 43 years old and hasn't seen either of his brothers since he was a child. Amos was finally located and notified that this estate awaited the three brothers, but that it could not be divided until something definite was learned of the other two. Mr. Fish is, of course, anxious to learn the whereabouts of the others, if living. Unless he does this, he will never derive any benefit from the small fortune that awaits him.

MAN'S VOICE IS RESTORED

Man Who Had Been Speechless for Six Months Says "Hello, Doc," After Surgery Treatment.

New Haven, Conn., June 27.—Removal of a piece of a patient's skull which had come in contact with the brain has brought back the power of speech to Harry Wiltse.

For six months Wiltse had been unable to utter a word, but when Dr. Morris D. Slattery, who performed the operation in the presence of a dozen surgeons, came into the operating room again after leaving it to see another patient, Wiltse raised his head from the pillow, and in a distinct but low tone, said: "Hello, Doc!"

There was great surprise at the moment and the news quickly circulated to the physicians. They proclaim the belief that when Wiltse fully recovers his strength his speech will be as good as ever. They also believe that frequent attacks of insanity, the result of injury to Wiltse's head, 21 years ago, will cease.

PRaise TAFT'S DECISION

Washington Pastor Commends President's Refusal of Pardon to Bankers Morse and Walsh.

Washington, June 27.—"Every honest man ought to thank God we have a president in the White House who has moral backbone to refuse pardons to the bank wreckers, Charles W. Morse and John R. Walsh," declared the Rev. John Reid Shannon, pastor of Metropolitan Memorial church, from the pulpit. Referring to Morse and Walsh, the pastor said:

"These capitalists undertook to use the community as a sponge to squeeze at their pleasure. We have a right to take grim pleasure in the fact that these transgressors are picked off in the presence of the nation and shaken until their bones rattle before men from the Atlantic to the Pacific."

Very Few Cases Go Over Till Next Term.

WENDLING AWAITS FINAL NEWS

State Officers Invited to Masonic Banquet—Governor Commissions a Number of National Guard Officers.

Frankfort.—Final adjournment for the summer vacation has been taken by the court of appeals and it is expected that a large number of decisions will be handed down. It is understood that a decision will be given in the case involving the merger of the L. & N. and Frankfort & Cincinnati railroads, one of the most important cases which has been before the court at the present term.

It is likely also that the petition for a rehearing in the Joe Wendling case will be acted upon. These are about the only important cases of general interest that are to be decided by the court. During the last year the court has worked hard and a large number of decisions have been handed down. The court is well up with the docket and few cases will go over to the next term.

City Wins in Land Case.

Important tax questions were settled by the court of appeals in the case of the Kentucky Lands Investment Co., against the city of Louisville. The right of the city of Louisville to its lien on the property for city taxes is upheld.

Property was bought in at a tax sale by appellant company and the court says that the property is subject to the lien of the city for taxes, but the state has a right to maintain a suit to quiet its title to the lot which it bought and afterward sold to the investment company.

The court says that neither the sale by the sheriff nor that by the auditor's agent had the effect of invalidating the lien of the city. The higher court says that the petition should not have been dismissed in Louisville as the state was in constructive possession of the property.

Officers Commissioned.

Gov. Willson has issued commissions to the following officers of the Kentucky national guard: W. L. Dixon, second lieutenant, Co. B, third infantry; John H. Evans, captain medical corps; F. D. Kash, major subsistence department; M. S. Walton, captain in second infantry; J. V. Gross, captain Co. B, second infantry; Isaac Wilder, captain Co. I, second infantry; Ben Sewell, first lieutenant, Co. F, second infantry; J. P. Haney, first lieutenant Co. L, second infantry; Daniel W. Barrett, first lieutenant, Company I, second infantry; Albert Liley, first lieutenant, Co. M, second infantry; F. K. Ashby, second lieutenant, Co. E, third infantry; W. D. Carter, second lieutenant Co. F, third infantry.

New Bug But Not Dangerous.

Wheat harvest, notably in Trimble and Carroll counties, is on in full blast, and the farmers are busy cutting what they consider an extra good crop. Harvest in this section is about ten days earlier than common, thought to have been brought on by the extreme hot weather. In some sections a small green bug is working on the wheat straw, and many farmers claim that it has caused the grain to ripen early.

Company Refused Right to Incorporate.

The new Central National Life Insurance Co., recently formed in Louisville, has been denied a charter. Dr. Ben L. Bruner, secretary of state, because of a similarity of names between the Citizens National Life Insurance Co.

Dr. Bruner also criticised the articles filed for the company.

ONLY THIRTY-SIX PER CENT OF CHILDREN IN SCHOOL.

Full reports on the school census have been received by the superintendent of public instruction and show that there are a total of 225,557 children of school age in this state. The statistics show that only 36 per cent. of the school children of the state attend school and the percentage of those enrolled who attend is only 45 per cent., less than half of the children who are nominally in the schools. The reports show that there are in the cities 44,554 white children, in the rural schools 155,323.

Sane Fourth at Capital.

There will be no shooting of fireworks on the streets of Frankfort on the Fourth of July this year. Mayor Polsgrove has definitely decided upon this and in a few days will give his instructions to the policemen to that effect.

In former years the big cannon crackers and all sorts of dangerous explosives have been fired at any place on the streets and frequently people have been injured and horses have been frightened and vehicles have been smashed up.

Fulton County Taxes.

Sheriff Johnson has received from the State Auditor, a statement of the amount of taxes he is charged with and what he will have to pay over to the state. The statement is as follows.

Land, $2,363,403.
Town Lots, $1,395,235.
Personality subject to Equalization, $987,938.

Personality not subject to Equalization, $546,648.

State Tax upon this amount at 50c on the $100 valuation, $26,466.12.

COMBINE ALL COLORS

EXTREME OF BLENDING MARKS
FANCY BLOUSES.

Well for Home Sewer to Take a Look at Some of the Designs Displayed in the Stores—
Use of Chiffon.

It would be a liberal education to the home sewer for her to examine the relays of fancy blouses forever appearing in the shops before starting in with her own sewing. These bodices, all of which have been designed by capable persons—some, indeed, are copies of high-priced French garments—all give splendid ideas for the blending of materials. The oddest contrasts in color are seen, the most unique effects, and so many different tints and textures are put together that one wonders a little sometimes of the manufacturers weren't simply using up scraps. Yet everything has its reason for being to those who understand the art of dress, the wild contrast in color alone being one of fashion's latest madnesses. Then in the very use of the linings under the veiled waists there are unnumbered hints. One sees the same lining, a coarse foulard with crude colors and patterns, on another counter, but how different it looks when the veiling or chiffon is over it. The colors are softened or entirely changed, the pattern beautifully blurred, dimmed, made the mysterious symphony it should be instead of the hard board of geometrical arabesques it once was. The exception in such cases, where a thin goods is put over a patterned lining, is with the checked doublings. These show the exact pattern through, but since a check when veiled is very smart the result is charming.

Some of the ready-made fancy blouses are incredibly cheap, one design showing chiffon in various delicate tints over thin silk linings with big flowers. These have silver and gilt tinsel yokes and sleeve edges, the shape of the waist on the kimono order, and a contrasting embroidery in coarse floss and tinsel at the front. One little beauty of a faded and yet deepish blue had red roses and green leaves in the lining and a sort of purple embroidery with tinsel touches on the front. Other waists in the same design were in every color imaginable, the embroidery matching or contrasting, and the universal price was just five dollars. The bodices are for wear with the smarter coat suits of cloth or velvet and for house use. They look best when matching the skirt or suit at some point, and of course they would be intensely vulgar if relegated to every-day wear. In fact, the fancy bodice signifies some elegance in the get-up, though a veiled waist in a dark color—matching the dress—with-out much trimming may be used with a very plain frock.

The illustration shows a semi-shirt waist style that is as suitable for a middle-aged woman as a young lady if the sleeves are made wrist length for the older wearer. Crepe de chine, foulard, alpaca, cashmere and flannel are suitable textures, and with the trimming modified the design is quite possible for linen, madras and pongee or other wash shirtings. As pictured, the waist is part of a dress of dim green cachemire de sole with a trimming of black satin. For the elderly wearer the waist can be closed at the side front, the back openings seeming a little too foolish for those above a certain age.

WOMEN MAY AVOID OPERATIONS

By taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The following letter from Mrs. Orville Rock will prove how unwise it is for women to submit to the dangers of a surgical operation when it may be avoided by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She was four weeks in the hospital and came home suffering worse than before.

Here is her own statement.

Paw Paw, Mich.—"Two years ago I suffered very severely with a displacement. I could not be on my feet for a long time. My physician treated me for seven months without much relief and at last sent me to Ann Arbor for an operation. I was there four weeks and came home suffering worse than before. My mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I did. Today I am well and strong and do all my own housework. I owe my health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and advise my friends who are afflicted with any female complaint to try it."—Mrs. ORVILLE ROCK, R. R. No. 5, Paw Paw, Michigan.

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for women's ills, and has positively restored the health of thousands of women. Why don't you try it?

The KITCHEN CABINET

HERE is no belief, whoever plants a seed beneath the soil, and waits to see it push away the cloud—He trusts in God.

Pork Dishes for Chilly Days.
We need fat to keep the body heat during the winter months, and it is in the chilly days when the body is more active that it is able to digest the heartier meats.

Spareribs With Apple.—Place spareribs in a baking pan, season well and over them lay a layer of sliced apples, sprinkle with bread crumbs and bake as usual.

If the price of pork keeps up it will drive the small farmer to raising his own pork and reviving the fast passing pork barrel. There are so many nice appetizing dishes which one may prepare with a little salt pork beside the old methods of fried and boiled pork. A most tasty salad may be made using three slices of salt pork cut in dice and fried brown. Pour this over chopped cabbage and onion, season well with salt and add a quarter of a cup of boiling hot vinegar. This salad once made will often be repeated, for it is a general favorite. This pork dressing may be used over lettuce and onion or early in the year over fresh dandelion greens.

Cold roast pork is nearly as dainty as roast chicken, if well roasted. To roast, put the meat into a very hot oven at first, to sear over the outside and keep in the juices, then lower the heat and cook slowly until well done. Pork should never be served underdone, as trichina may be present or even tuberculosis.

Pork cake is a most desirable one to make when butter is high. Use a cup of chopped salt pork for the shortening. Dried apple soaked over night and chopped, spices and molasses added with sugar will take the place of more expensive fruit. Such a cake is not only good, but keeps well. In an emergency a most appetizing dessert may be made from it. Cut a few slices of the cake and steam them until soft and well heated through. Serve with an egg sauce of egg, hot milk, sugar and flavoring or a cooked sauce of a tablespoonful each of butter and flour, half a cup of sugar, a few gratings of nutmeg, a half cup of boiling water and a few tablespoonfuls of vinegar.

Pork fryings may be used in spice cake in place of butter or in ginger bread, making it more delicate than when butter is used.

Largest of Electric Valves

The biggest electric valve ever built was constructed recently at Indian Orchard, Mass. It and two others were designed to control the water that drives the hydraulic turbines—of 12,000 horse power each—at the Niagara Falls station of the Ontario power company. The valves are nine feet in diameter and weigh 65 tons apiece. Each is operated by an alternating current electric motor, three minutes being required to raise or lower the gates.

No Danger

In taking Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey for coughs and colds. It contains no habit producing drugs. Look for the Bell on the Bottle.

WARNING!

Parties having wiring done, or making any changes in their wiring, must have a permit from this company, in order that our records will show the consumption.

The reason for this is obvious, as we have transformers that reduce the current, and to overload one of these will mean a burn-out, entailing a considerable loss to this company.

Any electrician tapping our lines or making a change, without a permit, will be immediately prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

The Courier's Weekly Sermon

BY PASTOR RUSSELL

SUBJECT

PASTOR RUSSELL'S SPECIAL TRAIN
HIS ADDRESS TO YOUNG STUDENTS

Zionism the Hope of the World.

Two Zions and Two Classes of Zionists, but All Parts of the Great Divine Arrangement For the Blessing of the World and Its Uplift From Sin, Degradation and Death, is Pastor Russell's View.

San Francisco, Cal., June 25.—Pastor Russell addressed large audiences twice today at the Golden Gate. He addressed a convention of the "International Bible
Students Association" in session here. He has been making a sort of continental tour, including Indianapolis, St. Louis, Kansas City, Pueblo, Colorado Springs, Denver, Salt Lake City,
Los Angeles, Pasadena and Santa Cruz. In all these cities local branches of the "I. B. S. A." invited him and made arrangements for public addresses. A train-load of Bible Students are with him—about one hundred and fifty in all.

Meetings are to be held returning at Sacramento, Portland, Tacoma, Seattle, Vancouver, Calgary, Winnipeg, Duluth, Buffalo and Toronto.
The scheme is a novel and a benevolent one; for surely what he has undertaken and is carrying out is not a lazy man's burden.

The Earthly Zionism.

Speaking from the text, "The Law shall go forth from Mt. Zion and the Word of the Lord from Jerusalem" (Isaiah 2, 3), Pastor Russell declared that Christians had inadvertently misappropriated to themselves many promises of the Scriptures which are not wholly theirs. Christian creeds and theories have surmised that, through the rejection of Jesus, all Jews dying in unbelief of Messiah were foreordained to an eternity of torment because of that unbelief in the Only Name.

A more careful study of the Bible,
he declared, is showing Bible Students the error of this position. Jews who do not accept Jesus as their Savior and who do not become followers in His steps in the "narrow way" will indeed fail of attaining a place with Jesus in his Throne of glory. They will fail to become joint-heirs with Him in His glorious Messianic Kingdom. They will fail to become members of the spiritual Seed of Abraham, respecting whom St. Paul said, "If ye be Christ's, then are ye Abraham's Seed and heirs according to the promise" (Galatians 3, 29).

The Heavenly Zionism.

The Zionism of the past eighteen centuries has been of the heavenly kind. It has been calling and inspiring to loving zeal, obedience and activity such as have the "hearing ear," the heavenly calling to joint-heirship with Messiah. This glorious privilege is about to end because the full number predestinated of the Lord will soon have been completed. Meantime, the Pastor and others of God's consecrated people should be Zionists in the highest sense of the word and, laying aside

"I Am Glad"

of Liberty Center, Ind.,

diol, for it has cured me,
and I will never forget it."
"I cannot praise Cardiol too highly for what it did for me. Before I began to take it, I was very bad color, suffered great pain and weighed only 105 pounds. Now I have a good color, do not suffer and weigh 125 lbs."

STEVE STAHR
BOTH PHONES

every weight and every besetting sin, each should strive to make his "calling and election sure" to a place in the Heavenly Zion—the Kingdom of Messiah.

It will be from this Mt. Zion, the spiritual Kingdom of Messiah, that the Law will go forth during the thousand years of the Messianic reign; the great Judge and Law-giver of the world will be the glorified Redeemer; and His associates, in His various offices of Prophet, Priest, King, Judge and Mediator, will be the faithful Zionists of the present time who follow in the steps of their Redeemer, delighting to lay down their lives for the Truth's sake and for the brethren's sake, in co-operation with the great Captain of their salvation, through the merit of His imputed righteousness.

The Word From Jerusalem.

As soon as Mt. Zion, the Kingdom, shall be completed by the glorification of the last member of the Church, it will be time for the Law to go forth therefrom for the correction of the world's affairs in righteousness—for the overthrow of every form of iniquity and everything contrary to the Golden Rule. In other words, when the Kingdom class shall have been completed by the elective process, which is the Divine arrangement of this Age, forthwith that Kingdom will come into power and the reign of righteousness will begin.

Zionism, amongst the Jews today, we believe the Lord is stirring up—a preparation of natural Israel for the great blessing which so soon will be at their door. As they begin to really appreciate the Land of Promise, the rich promises in connection with that land must become theirs, and the inspiration of those promises will lead their hearts back to the Lord in prayer and supplication and will lead the feet of a reverential, representative number of them back to the land itself, to which the Lord declared He would bring them; and that from thence they should be plucked up no more at all. Remember, in this connection, St. Paul's reference to the New Covenant and the time when it will go into force with Israel, as recorded in Romans xi, 27.

Potato Exploded.

A potato, the size of a tea cup, caused extraordinary havoc in a home in Vancouver, Wash., the other day when it exploded in the oven of a range and shattered the cast-iron grate, blew open the oven door, and caused such a loud report that the maid thinking someone had shot at her rushed from the house screaming for help. The explosion was due to the large amount of water in the potato and to the fact that it was in a hot oven. When the water was converted to steam, the skin being baked hard, did not break until the pressure became tremendous, causing a report similar to the discharge of a shotgun.

Then They Moved In.

Client—Before we decide on the house, my husband asked me to inquire if the district is at all unhealthy.

House Agent—Er—what is your husband's profession, madam?

Client—He is a physician.

House Agent—Hum—er—well, I'm afraid truth compels me to admit that the district is not too healthy.—London Opinion.

The Only Thing She Could Do.

"My goodness! I can't understand how she could give up her child. They say it has really been adopted by a family that lives in the country."
"Yes. You see she found a flat that just suited her, and they wouldn't allow children in the building."
